Enjoy the finest in Coachella Valley hospitality from June 3-12

Building on the momentum of over 40,000 diners who indulged in culinary offerings from across the valley last year, the Palm Springs Desert Resorts Restaurant Association has set the dates for the fourth annual Restaurant Week Friday, June 3- Sunday, June 12, 2011. Encouraging guests to "Eat, See and Stay," Restaurant Week will feature creations from 100 locations to wow diners, in addition to value priced specials from top hotels and attractions.

"The annual Palm Springs Restaurant Week is a real treat for residents as well as visitors," says Eric Morcus of the Kaiser Restaurant Group. "It takes place after the crush of our peak season, and the chefs and restaurateurs relax and have fun with it. The desert restaurant scene has grown to include a huge variety of cuisines, and Restaurant Week is the perfect opportunity to sample many of these offerings at a 'get acquainted' price."

During Palm Springs Restaurant Week, diners can receive a three-course prix fixe menu for $24 or $36, depending on the restaurant. Last year's menus offered a multitude of flavors to tempt every palate, from eclectic dishes like Hawaiian tuna mojito ceviche, to traditional American cuisine like braised short rib with fall root vegetables, to East Coast thin style pizza. A sample of participating restaurants, hotels and attractions in 2011 include:

- Acqua Pazza
